Telling us what you think

At ACNA, we like it when people give us feedback.

We listen when you tell us what you think.

It helps us make our services better.

When you tell us about a problem, it is called making a complaint.

We follow 3 steps when we get complaints:

1. You tell us about the problem
2. We look at the problem and talk to you
3. We fix the problem if we can.

We explain each of these steps on the following pages.

Step 1 – You tell us about the problem

If you have a problem with one of our services, you can:

- phone us on 1300 972 920
- visit our website at <http://www.acna.org.au/contact-us> and complete the form.
- email us at enquiries@acna.org.au

If you need help to speak up about the problem, we can help you find an advocate.

Advocates are people who speak up for people with disability.

You don't have to tell us your name if you don't want to.

But we might need to know your name to help us fix the problem.

We'll let you know if that's the case.

Step 2 – We look at the problem and talk to you

We will tell you when we have received your complaint.

We will contact you within 24 hours.

We might ask you some questions.

We will:

- look at the problem
- find a way to fix it.

We will do this within 10 days.

We will tell you if we need extra time.

You can talk to us during this time if you need to.

We will:

- give you the name of someone you can talk to
- let you know how things are going.

Step 3 – We fix the problem if we can

Some problems:

- are bigger than others
- need more time.

We fix most problems within 10 days.

Sometimes, we need a manager to help.

If you are not happy with how we plan to fix your problem, you can talk to a manager.

If you are not happy with the manager's ideas about how to fix your problem, you can talk to the people who work in our Executive.

These are the leaders at ACNA.
